

Sheep & Chandeliers

Sheep & Chandeliers launched their business in response to the ever growing range of environmentally designed products becoming available and a desire to increase our access to these innovative companies, through an easy to use and friendly website.

Offering practical advice and solutions to many of our everyday needs, with stylish and effective products from recycled paper to the latest solar energy devices.

I love the idea of The Sun Jar, using natural sunlight to store energy in the day, which is then released in the evening providing a soft warm glow as a nightlight in the home or garden.

If you're looking for a more ambitious urban lighting effect, checkout the Recycled Stealth Mood Light by Blue Marmalade. It comes with 6 interchangeable colour filters to match your mood and is designed specifically for use with energy saver bulbs. It is even comes supplied with a long life, low mercury, recyclable bulb and will add atmospheric and subtle illumination to any room

And the Name?

Sheep as a symbol of warmth, comfort, tradition and sustainability and Chandeliers because they were originally designed to create energy efficient light by the use of cut glass to refract and reflect a small light source. A symbol of elegance and ingenuity.

Sheep and Chandeliers are a really committed company with a great ethos and love of what they do. They are also part of the Smart Sussex Passport Scheme, enabling local residents even greater value for money on selected products.
